The purpose of a government is to make it easy for people to do good and difficult to do evil.

William Gladstone
Democracy – Myron Weiner’s Four Conditions

- Competitive elections
- Political freedoms for all
- Peaceful transfer of power and no retribution
- Real power with elected governments
Distortions of state power

- Positive Power restricted
  Negative Power unchecked

- State organs are dysfunctional

- A system of alibis
  Victims of vicious cycle

- Change of players
  No change in the rules of the game

- Political process ought to be the solution
  But has become the problem itself
Policymakers have responded to emerging challenges:

- 73rd, 74th Amendments – Local Governments (1993)
- Voter registration and electoral process reforms (past 15 years)
- Mandatory disclosure of candidates antecedents (2003)
- Political funding reforms (2003)
- Limiting size of cabinet (2003)
- Rajya Sabha elections reforms (2003)

Contd…
Indian democracy is a work in progress

Policymakers have responded to emerging challenges:

- Right to Information (2005)
- Gram Nyayalayas Act (2009)
- 97th Amendment – Right to form Cooperatives (2012)

In the pipeline

- Lokpal Bill
- Service Guarantee Bill
- Judicial Standards & Accountability Bill

Under consideration

- National Judicial Commission
- Indian Judicial Service
However, much remains to be done.

To understand nature of crisis and resolve it, we need to focus on the initial conditions.
The initial conditions...

1. Poor service delivery
   - bribes & red-tape
   - harassment & delays
   - influence peddling
   - No local leaders or local solutions
   - Systemic distortions not corrected
   - Links broken: Taxes ↔ Services, Vote ↔ Public good
   - Easy populism & wasteful use
   - Citizen & public servants roles reversed

2. Citizenship sense lacking
   - Elected leaders as ‘monarchs’
   - Legislators and party cadre should ‘somehow’ deliver
   - No link with taxes
   - No sense of public money, entitlement to public services

3. Over Centralization
As a consequence...

- Excessive dependence on elected legislators
- Vote as a lever for getting even the smallest thing done
- Party cadres have to devote vast amount of time at local level
- Great sacrifice expected from legislators and political workers
Elected Legislator

- Money for votes
- Freebies, sops & doles
- Divisive politics

Mounting dissatisfaction

- Mounting corruption
- Political recruitments from dynasties, corrupt money bags

Burden on legislator & vast cadre network

- Even with best efforts, only 10% gets done

- Unsustainable sacrifice
- Ethical politics not sustainable

Good people marginalized in politics vote as a lever desperation of citizens

Drawbacks of First-Past-The-Post (FPTP) System

- Vote Buying and vast Election Expenditure
- National Parties are being marginalized
- Best and Brightest individuals are unelectable
- Reckless Populism at the cost of Nation Building
- Emerging local fiefdoms causing decline of parties
Most election expenditure is to buy votes

- Increased voter cynicism
- Voter seeks money & liquor
- Increased corruption by the elected
- Increased election expenditure
- Not spending large amounts almost guarantees defeat
Consequences of Marginal Vote

- Decline of National Parties
- Rise of Sectarian Parties
- Fiscal Imbalance at the cost of Nation Building
- Reckless Populism
- Vote Buying
- Corruption

Marginal Vote
BJP & Congress do not matter
... in more than half of India

Total Seats in Lok Sabha: 543

- Uttarakhand: 80 Seats
- Maharashtra: 48 Seats
- West Bengal: 42 Seats
- Andhra Pradesh: 42 Seats
- Bihar: 40 Seats
- Tamil Nadu: 39 Seats

Both Congress and BJP are not major players in 'Big 6' States sending 291 MPs*

Remaining States sending 252 MPs

Best & brightest are unelectable in FPTP

• In most major states, it costs Rs. 2-6 crores to seriously compete to be an MLA & Rs.10 crores or more to be MP

• Most money is for vote-buying and has to involve law-breaking and black money

• Big money, muscle power and criminal nexus, caste base and entrenched personal following are often prerequisite for electoral success

• Absence of internal democracy in parties, and weak local governments make it even harder for enlightened citizens to participate in politics
Populism and Fiscal Imbalances

• Reckless populism to gain marginal vote hurting the exchequer

• Fiscal deficits are not under control

• Skewed priorities – populist schemes instead of education, healthcare and infrastructure
Parties are in decline

Parties often at the mercy of local strong men…

• with abnormal money power, patronage networks and caste connections

• built impregnable modern fiefdoms without legitimate democratic mandate… operating entirely outside party

• weaken the party when they switch sides
Politics at the cost of nation-building

- Parties, in the quest for marginal vote, are compelled to offer short-term freebies
- This is often resulting in competitive populism and serious fiscal deficits
- Even major parties behave differently while in power and opposition. Instability is the consequences; and national interest is the casualty. ex: Petrol price hike, FDI, nuclear agreement
- Even when parties know the consequences, they are helpless; a slight fall in vote share eliminates them from the race to power
- Much of this problem is because of parties’ fear of losing marginal vote
Distortions of FPTP - Summary

- National Parties marginalized in most large states
- Political fragmentation
- Money power for marginal vote leading to corruption
- The best and brightest shun elections and politics
- Politics of fiefdoms has taken root .. Parties in decline
- Competitive populism to attract marginal vote
- Divisions exacerbated for local political gains
- Political recruitment flawed, to ‘somehow’ win constituencies
- Tactical voting because of ‘wasted’ votes
- Voter apathy and cynicism
Need for an alternative electoral system

That is ...

1. Fair
2. Broadly Acceptable
3. Easy to Accomplish
4. Corrects Most of the Present Distortions
5. Minimal Negative Impact
Proportional Representation (PR) instead of FPTP

FPTP
- Candidate Based
- Constituency Based
- High Threshold for Success

PR
- Party Based
- State Based
- Moderate Threshold for Success
Merits of PR

- Vote buying diminishes as marginal vote is not critical
- Competent and honest politicians with good image become electoral assets
- Rational, long-term policies can be pursued as marginal vote is unimportant
- National parties will be viable in all states
- Vote reflects voters’ views
- Greater voter participation
- Voice and representation to all segments and views

Concerns about PR

- At first glance, FPTP favours several groups to come together
- In reality, the local caste group or other identity dominates in many constituencies
- FPTP is constituency-based election; favours sectarian politics
  - Eg: MIM in parts of Hyderabad
  - PMK – with Vanniar vote in North Tamil Nadu
  - Local Caste domination – Lingayat, Vokkaliga, Maratha, Reddi, Kamma, etc..

But, PR allows parties to reconcile conflicting interests for maximum acceptance – State-wide appeal matters; not local domination
Concerns about PR (contd…)

Therefore,

FPTP
- Constituency based
- High barrier for winning
- Difficulty in entry

As a consequence, local leaders are dictating State level and national politics

PR
- State based
- Moderate / reasonable threshold for winning
- Wide support base needed

As a consequence, relatively easy, wide acceptance of national parties…
Will PR affect stability?

- At national level, we already have coalitions. Government in PR countries are more stable.

- At the state level, there may be fewer instances of single party rule under PR. This may be a small price to pay. Alternatively, we can combine PR for legislature with direct election of executive only at the state level.
Constitution allows PR - No amendment needed

Art. 81(2)(b) of The Constitution Of India

For elections to Lok Sabha:
each State shall be divided into territorial constituencies in such manner that the ratio between the population of each constituency and the number of seats allotted to it is, so far as practicable, the same throughout the State…

Similar provision exists for elections to Legislative Assemblies under Art. 170(2)

Only Representation of the People’s Act needs to be amended
A simple PR model for India

- State as unit for PR threshold (for State Assembly & Lok Sabha)
- Multi-member constituencies having 6 to 10 seats.
- Parties get seats in proportion to their votes in a state, if they cross the minimum required vote of, say, 5% in a large state.
- Members are elected from party lists in each multi-member constituency.
- Each elected member is allotted to an Assembly / Lok Sabha segment by preferential choice based on party vote share in the MMC.

Local Government – Cupertino vs Sunnyvale

- Sunnyvale & Cupertino are two cities in Bay Area of California on either side of Homestead Road.
- Through all conditions are similar, property values of Cupertino are 40 – 50% higher.
- Reason: School District in Cupertino has good reputation for outcomes. Only local residents (taxpayers) can send kids to local public schools. Hence, greater demand for houses in Cupertino.

- Taxes $\leftrightarrow$ Services $\leftrightarrow$ Property value $\downarrow$

  Vote
Local Government - J&K experience

- It was a vote for self-governance, not self-determination.

- 79% of voters came out to exercise their franchise in the party-less election for local self-government institutions and elected some 33,000 representatives in 4,200 panchayats.

- This election result gave India a priceless opportunity in a militant-plagued state.

- If funds are devolved with powers at Rs.1000/capita to every panchayat and municipal ward, people would be involved in things that matter in their lives.

- Terrorism and secessionism would recede with people’s participation and satisfaction in outcomes.
